

Separate As One

Requested upon your presence
Found by the blue of my eyes
Never knew it would be this intense
Discovering as I let you deep inside

I thought I was sinking
But you kept me afloat
Deep beneath the surface
Where nobody knows

Buried behind old wounds
Moments felt frozen in time and space
I had thought we were doomed
The way you were moving, not my pace
Right time, right place
The one I'd have to face
Is myself

But not alone
Further apart, the closer we are
The distance will never be too far
We are one, just like clones, twin souls
I put you on hold, I was not sold
Now you're so cold

For we have surrendered
To the divineness of timing
This love, so tender
I can feel it, we are aligning