

Circles Back to You

I'm in love with the thought of you
But when you get too close, my skin turns blue

Tried to be the one for you then
All I needed was time, that I did spend
Months went on, only to feel like seconds
When we're apart think we've hit a dead-end

I'm left here to wonder in the lives we're to live
Said you'd find me in this life and the next
So, I know you're down for trying to forgive
Is it us they're against?

Are we to flee the scenes?
Run from the chase together this time?
It couldn't all be just a daydream
So, I just sit waiting for you to arrive
Again

Because it's never truly goodbye
It's always give me space and time to be
Alone this time, I need to see with all eyes
Not just the two outside of my nose
But the one that allows me to see, devise
Put away my disguise
For good

So darling,
The past is the past, we'll leave it to bury
If you want me too,
Come down when you're ready
